Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to confirm that Raymond Heberer attended the GPU Technology Conference in Munich, Germany, October 10-12, 2017.

The GPU Technology Conference 2017 featured a wide selection of technical sessions, interactive tutorials, technology previews, industry and academic presentations from top scientists, researchers and visualization experts. For more information on the conference, please visit <http://www.gputechconf.eu>.

As the main focus, Raymond volunteered to support us during the event and proved to be a much-valued help before and during the conference as a Teaching Assistant. He has provided the course attendees with information and support. As well, filled the role of assisting the professors, and helped on the setting up for the labs. The input given by the Teaching Assistants in general, has received excellent feedback.

NVIDIA and the Deep Learning Institute would like to thank Raymond very much for the demonstrated support and motivation.
